Comment: My concerns are anti social behaviour, increased traffic / car parking and a conflict of a property already there. I would like to know if the carers and visitors will be parking on the grounds. Orchard Road despite being a no through road, has cars parked down both sides most days all day. People park here for work locally and also for the school run twice a day which means for 2 hours a day, it is very difficult to get up and down the road, ambulances and dustbin lorries have not been able to get up before due to the amount of cars parked. Any more houses and residents especially down that end of the road would make it even more difficult and possibly dangerous. Regarding anti social behaviour, we have e bikes tearing through the road to go down the pedestrians only path to get to Church Street. We also get noise sometimes from the factories. We do not want anything else disturbing what little peace we have left! Another concern is that my understanding is that the house opposite is a house of multiple occupancy where individuals rent rooms. I am not casting aspersions on the residents there, but does this need to be considered if vulnerable children are living across the street?
